Amprion's SYNTap Biomarker Test can help doctors diagnose a variety of neurological condition, which can cause these types of changes.

What is the SYNTap Biomarker Test?

SYNTap Test can help doctors diagnose neurological diseases such as:

- Parkinson's Disease
- Lewy Body Dementia
- Multiple System Atrophy
- Lewy body variant of Alzheimer's disease

How does the test work?

The test accurately detects a misfolded form of a brain protein, called misfolded synuclein, or alpha-Synuclein. Misfolded synuclein is a crucial biomarker in the above diseases.

Why is the SYNTap Test important?

The test accurately detects the presence of misfolded synuclein. The result can help your doctor determine if you have synucleinopathy, which may be one of the medical conditions mentioned above.

Molecular testing helps your doctor provide a more confident diagnosis to guide effective treatment options.

Having an accurate, confident diagnosis gives the doctor, you, and your loved ones a head-start on making optimal treatment and care plans.

Who should take this test?

The SYNTap Test is used when people have symptoms suggesting Parkinson's Disease, Lewy Body Dementia, Lewy body variant of Alzheimer's disease, or Multiple System Atrophy. The decision to have a SYNTap Test should be made in consultation with your physician.
